Exploring

WORK, COMMUNITY

& THE HUMAN CONDITION

through the Lens of the Arts

The struggles of workers in Michigan continue. We can’t escape the disturbing news we hear each day - news that has, for many, become the reality of daily life. In this challenging economic time, people are looking for ways to make sense of it all. The MSU Cultural Engagement Council wants to present a compelling opportunity to look at work, community and the human condition in a different way - through the lens of the arts. Throughout our 2010-2011 season, we will present a variety of arts and cultural events to provide a space for Michigan communities to talk about their experiences. Join us for these special events.

UPCOMING EVENTS

January 27 //
The Grapes of Wrath in Word and Song
Join artists from Michigan State University’s College of Music and Department of Theatre in an evening of excerpts from Ricky Ian Gordon’s monumental operatic adaptation and Frank Galati’s stirring theatrical rendering of John Steinbeck’s novel of the Dust Bowl.
7pm, UAW Regional Office Auditorium, Grand Rapids

January 30 //
The Grapes of Wrath in Word and Song
Join artists from Michigan State University’s College of Music and Department of Theatre in an evening of excerpts from Ricky Ian Gordon’s monumental operatic adaptation and Frank Galati’s stirring theatrical rendering of John Steinbeck’s novel of the Dust Bowl.
1:30pm, Michigan Historical Museum, Lansing

February 13, 2011-January 22, 2012 //
MASK: Secrets and Revelations
A look at the human condition as evocatively conveyed through masks.
MSU Museum main gallery

April 1-3 //
The Grapes of Wrath
On-campus student performances of the Ricky Ian Gordon opera

April 8-10 //
The Grapes of Wrath
On-campus student performances of the Frank Galati theatre adaptation